Short Answer Fields (adapt to character limits)

Mission (1–2 sentences)

Bitcoin For The Arts, Inc. empowers independent artists with Bitcoin micro-grants, financial literacy workshops, and censorship-resistant tools — building the first nonprofit dedicated to paying creators exclusively in Bitcoin and establishing a long-term Bitcoin reserve for perpetual arts funding.

Problem (1–2 sentences)

Independent artists face compounding crises of financial precarity, platform censorship, and exclusion from institutional funding — with the top 2% of arts nonprofits receiving over 60% of philanthropic arts dollars, while working artists earn a median of $35,000/year in depreciating currency with no path to financial sovereignty.

Solution (1–2 sentences)

BFTA provides direct Bitcoin grants ($500–$25,000), hands-on workshops on self-custody and value-for-value models, and onboarding to censorship-resistant platforms — combining immediate financial support with the tools and education artists need to build permanently independent careers.

How is your approach unique? (1–2 sentences)

BFTA is the first nonprofit paying artists exclusively in Bitcoin, with a radical transparency model (all governance documents published openly) and a 55/30/10/5 allocation framework that includes a Bitcoin endowment designed to appreciate over time — creating a self-sustaining funding base that grows rather than erodes.

Target population

Independent artists worldwide, with initial grant funding for U.S.-based projects. Priority populations include: economically precarious working artists, creators facing platform censorship or deplatforming, and artists in regions with restrictive financial systems who cannot access traditional funding channels.

Results to date

Incorporated Q4 2025; launched grant application system (processing begins Q3 2026); published 8+ in-depth artist stories from 6 countries; produced 3 open-licensed video episodes; launched 5-tier Sovereign Circle membership program; established 5-member founding board; published full governance framework (bylaws, ethics, endowment policy); built open-source technology platform with BTCPay Server integration.

How do you plan to scale?

Three phases: (1) Foundation (2025–2026): launch first grant cycles at $500–$2,000, build community, establish governance. (2) Growth (2027–2028): scale grants from $500 to $1,000, launch residency and education pilots ($20K–$50K/year each), expand board to 7–9 members. (3) Sustainability (2029+): scale grants to $25K, reach 1 BTC reserve target, open-source the model for replication.

Revenue model / financial sustainability

Individual Bitcoin and fiat donations via BTCPay Server and Stripe; Sovereign Circle recurring memberships (5 tiers, $5–$101/month); institutional grants; workshop fees (sliding scale); HODL Vault Bitcoin endowment (5% allocation) that appreciates in purchasing power over time, creating a structurally self-sustaining funding base.

How would DRK's support help your organization?

DRK's unrestricted three-year funding would enable BFTA to fund our first 50+ artist grants and launch our residency and education pilots. DRK's board service model would provide critical governance, fundraising, and scaling expertise at our most important inflection point — the transition from founding infrastructure to operational grant-making. Access to DRK's portfolio network of 280+ social enterprises would accelerate partnerships and learning.

Important Notes

1. DRK requires a standard resume/CV for the founder — not a text bio. Prepare a traditional PDF resume for Dion Wilson.
2. DRK funds early-stage organizations. BFTA's Year 1 status is an advantage — DRK specifically seeks organizations at this stage.
3. DRK takes a board seat for 3 years. Be prepared to discuss board composition and willingness to add a DRK team member.
4. DRK provides up to $300K over 3 years in unrestricted funding plus ~$500K in in-kind support. Frame your ask around what this capital would unlock.
5. DRK has funded arts organizations before (e.g., Arts for Healing and Justice Network, 2019). Arts and culture is a recognized sector in their portfolio.
6. Roughly 20% of applicants advance to early interviews. Make the initial application compelling and concise.
7. Re-applications: You can reapply up to twice, no sooner than 1 year after a decline.
